WEATHER—Part cloudy west, rain followed by clearing tonight;

LIMA, OHIO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1920

PRICE THREE CENTS

BOY WILL RETAIN FAITH

Roanoke, Va.—The heart of the average American boy will cherish bitter enemy toward the dastardly gambler who has corrupted his baseball idols.

But no boy will say today he has lost faith in baseball. He is just one more factor of a public eager to repudiate the slightest suggestion of dishonesty and anxious to back up the efforts to maintain for baseball the reputation it has had for years—clean, on the square, wholesome and distinctly American.

Disloyalty and dishonesty did what all the sluggers in the American League could not—drive Eddie Cicotte from the box. Thus, one of the idols of American boyhood fell from his pedestal of fame.

To my mind, this constitutes one of the saddest features connected with the baseball scandal. Even this, however, will not rob the average boy of his interest in and love for baseball. Boys go in to win. No suspicion of crookedness enters their heads. It is the hardest thing under the sun to corrupt a boy so that he will lose a race or throw a game.

Thousands of youthful players on the city lots and members of country town teams from coast to coast will see in the baseball scandal only proof of the things they have always believed:

That you can't play the game crooked and win.

That "murder will out."

And that you can't mix in bad company and get away with it.

COX DRAWS HUGE KANSAS CROWDS

Old Fashioned Town Meeting
Methods Pleasing to Folk

POPULAR WITH FARMERS

Finds People Interested in National League Theme

ENROUTE HUTCHINSON, KANSAS, WITH GOVERNOR COX.—(By United Press.)—In the great wheat belt of Kansas, Governor James M. Cox carried his presidential stump campaign with the declaration that the league of nations "is the only definite plan suggested that will prevent war, as his outstanding theme."

After speaking at Hutchinson Thursday morning, he was billed to speak at Newton Thursday afternoon and Wichita Thursday night, after which he will leave for his tour of Oklahoma.

POPULAR IN KANSAS

Despite the talk of the strong Republican trend in Kansas, Cox everywhere was greeted with large crowds and his unique manner of turning his speech into an old-fashioned town meeting by inviting questions from his audience, appears popular with Kansas farmers.

It was apparent that Cox believes his hope of gaining votes in Kansas lies in his stand for the league of nations, as he has been devoting the major portion of his speech to this question and to emphasizing that Senator Harding admitted at Baltimore that he had nothing constructive in character to offer regarding new associations of nations.

PEOPLE HERE SAY

His Kansas strategy seems to be based on the belief that the state in 1916 in voting for Wilson, demonstrated it is in favor of making war more difficult in the future. His closest friends believe that one of his most effective appeals for league and peace was delivered at Topeka Wednesday night.

MACSWINEY'S CASE PUZZLES BRITAIN

Cabinet Fears Riots Incident to Mayor's Funeral

LONDON.—(By Associated Press.)—Lord Mayor MacSwiney slept three hours during the early part of Wednesday night, it was announced Thursday. As usual, he appeared brighter after the nap, although still extremely weak. MacSwiney was described as appearing healthy, but very tired.

While MacSwiney's life apparently is slowly drifting out, the British cabinet is puzzled over his case. His problem will not be solved with the hunger strikers' death. If the cabinet decides there shall be no public funeral, incitement of a riot is feared. Likewise, if MacSwiney's body is given his relatives for public burial, cabinet men feared his followers would work themselves into a frenzy at the funeral and perhaps start a demonstration more serious than any occurring to date.

APPEAL FOR COAL MADE

BURKHARDT ASKS AID OF COX

Dealers Without Fuel Here or in Transit, he Says

NATURAL GAS NOT AVAILABLE

Frost Tonight Predicted With More Cold Weather

With weather which is already uncomfortable without heat and colder weather promised shortly, Mayor F. A. Burkhardt Thursday appealed to Governor James M. Cox for relief in the serious coal situation. He sent a telegram to the state executive setting forth the facts, showing Lima to be unprepared for cold weather.

He pointed out in his message that appeals to the interstate and Ohio commissions have been without avail and that the city has practically no coal.

Dealers, the mayor said, declare they have no coal in their yards and little or none in transit.

The gas pressure is very low, being practically unavailable for small heating stoves. It has been announced by the gas company that the public cannot depend upon this fuel for heat as has been done heretofore. It is doubtful if the natural supply will be sufficient for cooking. The gas company reports a large number of requests for the installation of artificial gas.

COAL GOES TO LAKES

Coal is still being sent to the lake regions on priority orders which were to have terminated several days ago, although many delays in shipment caused an extension of time.

The mayor said he is receiving many complaints daily from residents and believes 90 per cent of the people in Lima are without coal. His appeal to the governor is a last resort.

Announcement was made by the Ohio Electric Thursday that an effort is being made to get the steam lines in condition to turn on the city tonight. A repair is being made at one point which may not be completed in time to do this tonight. If this is not possible it was announced it will be turned on Friday.

The weather man predicts frost tonight and colder weather. Unless the sky clears before night it is not believed the danger of frost here is great. A slight frost in low places was found Thursday morning, according to L. S. VanNatta, county farm agent. It was not sufficient to do damage, he said.

The thermometer at the Solar Refinery registered 39 as the low mark Thursday morning at 4 o'clock. The mercury had climbed to 49 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, making this the coldest day of fall.

Many garden plants last night covered in frost. Tender plants and flowers and thus saved them. This will be necessary tonight.

COX WOULD HAVE VOTED DRY

Harding's Ballot Wet 32 Out of 34, Nominee Says

HUTCHINSON, Kansas.—(By Associated Press.)—Governor Cox, Democratic presidential candidate, declared here Thursday that he would have voted dry on prohibition had he been acting under the same circumstances as Senator Harding, his Republican opponent, who, the governor declared, "had voted 32 times wet and two times dry."

He had been asked by a person in the audience if Senator Harding had not voted three times in favor of prohibition.

"There were 34 votes direct or indirect on the prohibition enforcement measure in the senate. Senator Harding voted 32 times wet and two times dry," Governor Cox replied.

Under the same circumstances would you vote dry?" the questioner demanded.

"I would," replied the governor.

THREE MEN DYING

Thirteen Others Injured as Traction Car Hits Truck

DETROIT, Mich.—(By Associated Press.) Three men were reported dying in a hospital at Dearborn early Thursday and 17 others were injured, some seriously, as a result of a collision shortly after midnight of a motor truck and a Detroit United Railway Interurban car. The accident occurred just outside the town of Dearborn. The truck was carrying Ford tractor plant workers to their homes. Only a few of them it was said, escaped injury.

NEW LEGION CHIEF

Col. F. J. Galbraith

BAR CLASHES OVER SOX PROBE

State's Attorney Holds the Investigation is Illegal

CHIEF JUSTICE RUSHES QUIZZ

Refuses to Halt Despite Order to Stop Inquiry

CHICAGO.—(By Associated Press.)—Positive assurance was given Thursday that the objections of State's Attorney Macley Hoynes will not interfere with the Cook county grand jury investigation into the $100,000 world's series baseball scandal.

Chief Justice Charles A. McDonald, who ordered the inquiry, said he would issue a statement later in the day, answering Mr. Hoynes' declaration that the actions of the grand jury had been illegal. Judge McDonald conferred with Edwin J. Rafter and other assistant state attorneys who had been working on the investigation, before beginning preparation of his statement.

PROBE TO CONTINUE

Henry H. Brigham, foreman of the grand jury, said frankly the investigation would continue. "We are well on our way in thrashing out this matter and we intend to go right along with it," Mr. Brigham said.

Thursday is the jury's last day on routine affairs. It is expected that Friday it will be impeached as a special body. No "baseball session" was scheduled for Thursday. However, it was reported that two other baseball players, members of the Chicago White Sox had been negotiating to tell what they knew of the world's series plot. It was believed the grand jury would arrange to take care of this contingency should the players desire to confess.

"INDICTMENTS DOUBT FUL"

CHICAGO.—(By United Press.)—On the verge of expected sensational disclosures of alleged crookedness in the National League, the grand jury investigating baseball Thursday, had apparently struck a snag which threatened to undo results already obtained.

Indictments voted against seven Chicago White Sox players, and ex-Sox first baseman and two eastern gamblers for alleged "fixing" of the 1919 world series at Cincinnati, now are termed "doubtful" and have been ordered held up by State's Attorney Macley Hoynes, now in New York.

The indictments, according to what Hoynes is purported to have told George Kinney, his secretary, over long distance telephone from New York Wednesday night, are based on a misinterpretation of the law.

Hoynes is said to have expressed worry over the possibility of any indictments that were to be returned.

ATTORNEYS' THEORY

Hoynes' theory is that the only crime the players can be prosecuted on is that of gambling or conspiracy to gamble. At the same time, Hoynes is declared to have said he does not believe indictments on these grounds would hold. He instructed Kinney to have the indictments held up until he returns from New York, where he has been conducting an investigation. What effect this may have on the baseball probe, was the subject of considerable comment among baseball officers and fans Thursday.

Some friction has broken out in the office of the state's attorney, and it was not considered likely that District Attorney Hoynes would proceed with the investigation.

The grand jury was expected to return the indictments Thursday.

F. W. GALBRAITH HEADS LEGION

Probe of Federal Relief Bureaus Failure Ordered

REMEDIAL LAWS DEMANDED

New Commander to Adhere to Non-Political Policy

CLEVELAND.—(By United Press.)—Thorough investigation to determine the blame for the alleged failure of the federal bureaus for soldier aid to function efficiently and immediate steps for remedial legislation, is the program of the American Legion, according to a statement Thursday by F. W. Galbraith, Jr., Cincinnati, new national commander. While the convention adjourned Wednesday night, the executive committee and new officers were to hold a brief business meeting Thursday.

Five vice-commanders were elected as follows:

John G. Emery, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Thomas J. Golding, Newark, N. J.; E. J. Winslett, Sabesville, Ala.; G. C. Kendall, Kenosha, Wis.; and J. G. Scroggins, Reno, Nev.

John W. Inzer, Montgomery, Ala., was elected national chaplain.

GALBRAITH'S ELECTION

Galbraith's election came on the second ballot. A majority was needed to win and the first ballot showed him leading the field by a wide margin, but without enough to win. On the second vote the various delegations hopped on the band wagon and he ran so far ahead of Colonel Milton J. Foreman, Illinois, and John Herber, Massachusetts, his two competitors, that Foreman moved and Herbert seconded a motion for the convention to make it unanimous for the Cincinnati man.

Galbraith said he felt no fear of any conscious violation by the various posts of the pledges of the Legion to remain a non-political in character and be neutral in disputes between capital and labor.

FIRE TAKES TOLL OF $2,000,000

Galveston Port Swept by Blaze—Steamers Burn

GALVESTON, Tex.—(By United Press.)—Fire swept a portion of the Galveston waterfront Thursday, causing a loss estimated at $2,000,000.

The blaze raged uncontrolled for nearly nine hours. It was brought under control by heroic work of firemen and was allowed to "burn itself out."

The fire centered in what is known as Galveston's west end, at the foot of 36th st.

The Italian ship Tetra, loaded with 253,000 bushels of wheat, was gutted. The fire was still burning, it appeared she was a complete loss. The Italian steamer Oceana was also partly burned.

The steamships Ancon, Gloria De Larrinaga and Honby Castle, the latter two Britishers, were saved, but without rigging and so, decks being badly charred and damaged. For a time, it appeared they would be lost.

A string of box cars loaded with grain, was also burned. The Shiloh Cotton compress was about one-third destroyed. The Anchor Milling Company's plant was also damaged and may be a total loss.

The firemen overcame were victims of the dense clouds of smoke from the sulphur plant which swept spectacularly over the city.

STRIKE STILL ON

Miners Meet Again Today to Try for Settlement

MARTIN'S FERRY, O.—(By Associated Press.)—Eastern Ohio miners meeting again Thursday after Wednesday's tumultuous sessions which failed to effect an agreement between men and union officials on the unauthorized strike in this district, hoped to devise some plan whereby the 7,000 men now on strike could be returned to the mines.

Miners have remained away from the mines, demanding pay for all stone taken out, while operators refuse to meet this, and union leaders say they would break their contracts if attempt is made to open up present wage scale.

FOUR THOUSAND DOCTORS, OF BENEFIT ASSOCIATIONS IN VIENNA, GO ON STRIKE

VIENNA.—Four thousand doctors of Vienna who have been treating patients under the auspices of sick benefit associations, have gone on strike. They are refusing to make visits except for the regular fees of their private practice.

REGISTRATION STARTS OFF VERY SLOW

Not More Than 20 to Precinct Reported at Noon Thursday—Registration Places Open Until 9 O'Clock To-Night

That the first day of registration will be prolific of very few qualifying as voters in the November election was indicated at noon Thursday when figures secured from various places of registration in the different wards were obtained.

Registrars report numerous cases of men and women being confused as to the exact place they were required to go, probably due to the fact that new precincts have been created and new boundaries designated.

Reports assembled from various registration places indicate that the few women who have qualified for the election did so in a matter of a few days, much the same as do men. They have little or no comment to make. They interpose no objection, the registrars say, to answering the question concerning their age.

TOTAL WILL BE SMALL

Those in charge of the places of registration stated Thursday that in their opinion, judging from the number who had been in to noon, the places open from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m., and 4 p. m. to 9 p. m., the total number for the day will be very small. Ages of women registering range from 21 to 62, the highest reported. At the Central Fire Department at noon a total of 20 had registered, only four of whom were women.

Miss Mayme O'Neill, first ward A, at North Side Fire Department, reported eight registered at noon, all of them men. "My work as a registrar is going fine," said Miss O'Neill, "altho it is slower than I had pictured it to be. The work is interesting."

Second Ward G registration place, in charge of Mrs. J. H. Baker and C. E. Deeds, at the Bergman garage on Erie-ave, had 15 registered at noon, only three of the number being women. Mr. Deeds stated, "The women come in and register in the same matter of fact way that characterize the presence of the men," Mr. Deeds said.

Third ward B, Mrs. George Mahan and Mrs. Amelia Foster in charge, at the L. Longworth residence, reported only three registrants, themselves and one man. Three others called to register but they were in the wrong precinct, Mrs. Mahan said.

F. H. Hime and Mrs. Grace Everett, were in charge of the work in precinct E, 4th ward, at the Overland Co. headquarters, W. Market-st. Up to noon 16 had registered, four of the number women. "They come in and qualify just like they were accustomed to it," said Mr. Hime, speaking of the manner in which the women look after the duty of registering.

COAL IS NEAR IN C. OF C. DRIVE

New Members Reported at Noon Thursday Total 194

ONLY 346 SHORT OF 1,200

Workers Lauded and Forces Set for Final Dash

With the Lima Chamber of Commerce membership within 346 of the coveted goal of 1,200, the meeting of workers at the Elks club Thursday was one of the most spirited since the beginning of the drive.

One hundred and ninety-four new memberships were reported, bringing the total up to 856. John Williams' navy team won the "We're It" flag with a total of 21. The committee on plural subscriptions (raised in 62. The Dalsel-Wemmer company, White Mountain Creamery and smaller concerns were represented in this number.

David Epstein spoke to the workers on the utility of trying to win the drive. "If a man is forced to become a member, I feel sorry for the organization afterward," he declared. In illustrating his point, he declared, "I have whipped some big men in my life and I have never yet had a fight. Reason is always the best weapon."

MURDER CHARGED

"Soldier" Held in N. Y., Accused of Slaying Woman

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y.—(By United Press.)—A man, alleged to be John E. McCormick, 34, a soldier from Fort Snelling, was being held here Thursday on a charge of first degree murder to await a preliminary hearing at New York. McCormick was arrested Wednesday. According to a warrant and circular sent here from Iowa, McCormick is wanted "for one of the most brutal murders ever committed in Leona, Iowa." It is alleged he killed Mrs. Clara Carol of Keokuk, August 23. On September 2, police here said he enlisted in the army at Fort Snelling and was to have sailed for overseas duty next week.

McCormick admitted his identity to the police, they alleged, but declined to say anything about the murder.

NONE INJURED IN CRASH HERE

B. & O. Engineer and Firemen Have Narrow Escape

AIR BRAKES FAIL TO WORK

Engineer on Erie Train Gives His Version

Engineer Thomas Tehau, 500 N. Main-st, fireman E. L. Monroe, 312 S. Jackson-st and an engineer and fireman from Huntington, Indiana, narrowly escaped death when an extra freight train on the Erie crashed into the Baltimore and Ohio freight running from Dayton to Lima on the regular "Switzer" run, at the junction of the Erie and B. & O., 50 yards east of S. Main-st at 7:40 Thursday morning.

Engineer B. F. Barnes, and Fireman John Sheets, who were on the Erie train, jumped from their engine 50 feet before the crash came, probably saving their lives. Tehau's engine and two or three cars had passed the crossing and both he and his fireman, E. L. Monroe were uninjured.

The B. & O. train was in charge of Conductor E. E. Fisher, 220 Exchange-ave.

CARS BROKEN UP

As a result of the crash a Wilson and Co. refrigerator car, an empty box car in the B. & O. train were smashed into lumber and the huge Erie engine, one tank car and four other box cars were piled in confusion in the debris. An iron post on which the signal lights were placed was knocked over and telegraph and signal wires were torn down.

A crew was immediately put to work repairing the tracks, a Baltimore and Ohio working crew was on the job in a short time, and ditches were immediately sent to Marion and Huntington for wrecking crews from the Erie.

Engineer Barnes declared the Baltimore and Ohio train had the block but that the air on his train failed to work. "We had succeeded in slowing the train down to not over three miles an hour," he said, "and when it was seen the brakes were not going to work a both jumped from the engine. The train jumped about 50 feet from the moving B. & O. train. The engine and about three cars of the train had passed."

POLES TAKE LIDA

Capture of Vilna Expected Within Few Days

WARSAW.—(By Associated Press.)—Polish forces captured Lida, an important town 45 miles south of Vilna and Pinsk, a fortified city 50 miles east of Brest-Litovsk on Tuesday, according to an official statement issued here. The Polish advance toward the northeast is continuing and the fall of Vilna, the Lithuanian capital is expected within a few days.

Kamenetz-Podolsk, a city on the northern bank of the Dniester river in Ukraine, has been recovered by Ukrainian troops from the Bolsheviks, it is reported.

It was at Lida, now again in Polish hands, that Leon Trotsky, the Soviet minister of war, was recently reported to have established the headquarters of a new Bolshevik army of 90,000 men designed for use in a fall offensive against the Poles.

Reports from the front show that the Polish-Ukrainian forces are advancing along the entire line. In the center the Poles have reached Slonim and crossed the river Shchara, capturing the 21st Bolshevik division and capturing nine guns.

NEW YORK FACES HOUSING TANGLE

Confusion Grows on Eve of Annual Moving Day

NEW LAW ADDS TO MIXUP

New Quarters Sought by 75,000 Gotham Families

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press.) — New York's annual fall moving day Friday will be marked by unprecedented confusion, when 75,000 families set out to move their 150,000 loads of household effects on 2,000 moving vans, into new quarters, many of which already are occupied by determined tenants. This was the situation forecast Thursday by van owners and real estate men, who hazarded the guess that it would take at least 24 days to settle the city's nomads into their new quarters.

It was difficult to determine whether the shortage of moving vans or the shortage of places into which to move presented the most serious immediate problem. The Van Owners' Association, thrown behind schedule by the recent strike of movers, admitted it was swamped with orders, and prospects for a golden harvest on the part of "independent" truckers seemed excellent.

Arthur W. Hilby, chairman of Mayor Hylan's committee on rent profiteering, has advised "gentlemen" under the terms of the new rent laws for those who have been unable to find new quarters. Eviction, under the laws passed last week by the legislature, is possible only upon presentation of proof by the landlord that the tenant is of undesirable character, that the landlord intends to occupy the apartment himself or that the building is to be torn down. And even then the tenant cannot be summarily evicted, because the landlord must first prove in court his grounds for eviction.

Operation of this law, while it will bring relief to thousands of tenants, will work a corresponding hardship on other thousands who have signed leases for apartments now occupied, upon owners' statements that they would be vacated on October 1.

All of the team were called upon for a few words; at the banquet held Wednesday evening.

Two hundred workers were in this campaign for civic betterment. Rev. Toole stated Thursday that the K. C. workers to a man will now devote their efforts toward making the chamber of commerce drive a success.

BOARD CONTROL VOTES TO ADVANCE SEWER CONTRACTOR $15,000

At a meeting of the board of control, city collector, city auditor, and the contractor on the Colletts-st. and Central-ave sewers Thursday morning, an agreement was reached to advance the contractor approximately $15,000 which has been held up pending completion of the contract.

According to the original agreement, 15 per cent was to be retained until the completion of the work, and to pay the remainder as the work was done. Provision was made however, that in case the city did not pay the contractor, six per cent would be allowed for the amount remaining unpaid.

Owing to failure of the city's notes to sell, it is impossible to pay all money due the contractor, according to Service Director McClain, and it was thought best to advance $15,000 of the money held back on the contract in order to relieve the present situation from now on only seven and one-half per cent will be retained.

This plan was approved by the supervising engineer and City Solicitor Garling.

"All positions under or in connection with the League, including the Secretariat, shall be open equally to men and women."

"Representatives of the members of the League and officials of the League when engaged on the business of the League shall enjoy diplomatic privileges and immunities."

"The buildings and other property occupied by the League or its officials or by representatives attending its meeting shall be inviolable."

EXPLANATION

Geneva, in Switzerland, the fulcrum of religious freedom, is designated as the first seat of the League of Nations chosen by Article 7 of the Covenant. The remainder of Article 7 provides that the seat of the League may be removed at any time; that positions under the League are open equally to men and women, and that officers of the League shall have status equal with diplomats.

Still there is no trace in the Covenant of that martial super-state which arose in the imaginations and was constructed on the tongues of partisan politicians in the United States.

COST OF LUMBER HOLDS FIRM

Chicago Price Drop for October 1 Doesn't Affect Lima.

Despite the fact that a 39 per cent drop in lumber prices is to go into effect in Chicago October 1, Lima retail and wholesale lumber dealers are of the opinion that there will be no material decrease here. Many large cities, among them Chicago and New York have organized cut-throats, architects, building trades unions, engineers and others, for the purpose of relieving delay in building and to assist in ending the housing situation.

W. C. Slagle, manager of the Slagle Lumber Co., stated that the manufacturers and large mill owners have absorbed the advanced freight rate which went into effect the middle of August, thus leaving their general prices about the same, with some slight reductions.

Among these reductions are No. 2 common board and several lesser grades. Large mills cannot make and general reduction not, according to Mr. Slagle, owing to the continued high labor prices. They are now working down to cost, and in reduced many would have to close their mills entirely. The transit can work material which is used by cooperative housing concerns, is the only one where any reduction has been made recently.

There has been some decrease in interior lumber prices within the past few weeks, according to S. J. Lewis, of Lewis Bros. Lumber, concern. Oak flooring which a month ago sold for approximately $250 per thousand, has now been reduced to $160; while yellow pine finish which sold at $140 has been cut down to $80. White pine andypress remains practically the same.

That is Mr. Harold Palliser's Opinion of Nerv-Worth, For That is the Way It Worked In Restoring His Health.

"I had been trying for a long time to get something that would relieve me," said Mr. Palliser, who resides at 208 Hickory St., Johnston, Pa. LEAGUE NATIONS DEBATE DEF

L. E. Ludwig Challenges R. R. Trubey to Forum Meet

CARRIES BATTLE TO TRUBEY

Date Proposed is October 11 and Memorial Hall the Place

An opportunity is to be afforded the people of Lima and Allen-co to hear an open debate on the League of Nations, at Memorial Hall, the evening of Monday, October 11, provided a challenge issued Thursday by L. E. Ludwig, president of the Allen-co Cox club to R. R. Trubey, president of the Harding club, is accepted.

LUDWIG'S CHALLENGE

"On numerous occasions you have seen fit as President of the Allen-co Harding Club, to challenge me, as President of the Allen-co Cox club," L. E. Ludwig states in a letter addressed to Mr. Trubey Thursday, "to debate with you publicly at Memorial Hall the advisability of the United States of America entering and becoming a member of the League of Nations. As often as you have made this challenge on this, so often have I requested you to reduce your challenge to writing. Repeatedly you have promised to do this. For some reason, best known to you and your confidential political advisers, you have not done so. I carry the battle to you."

"I will take the affirmative side of the following question: 'Resolved, That the United States of America shall forthwith enter the League of Nations, as it is now constituted.' This question will be debated publicly at Memorial Hall, Monday, October 11, 1920, at 7:20 p. m., either with you or with any Republican citizen whom you designate. I request, however, that if you select someone other than yourself to uphold the negative side of the foregoing question, then such person so selected shall have been a bona fide resident of Allen-co, Ohio, for at least one year last preceding."

TIME OF DEBATE

"The affirmative shall have 15 minutes in which to open the debate; the speaker for the negative shall then have not to exceed one hour; and the affirmative speaker shall have 15 minutes in which to close."

"The debate shall be the occasion for a joint meeting of all Harding and all Cox clubs in Allen-co and shall be open to all male and all female voters. There shall be no judges as such and no formal decision shall be rendered by the auditors. You shall have the privilege of designating the person who shall preside at the debate, but the presiding officer shall take no part whatever in the discussion. The expense incident to the meeting shall be borne equally by you and I, or equally by our respective clubs."

"Your failure to accept this challenge within three days on behalf of yourself or some other person whom you and your confidential advisers wish to name will be considered by me as indisputable evidence that you and the members of the organization of which you are president are afraid to have the voters of Allen-co know the real truth about the League of Nations. Will you, or will you not, accept?"

TRUBEY WAITS

Mr. Trubey, when asked by a representative of the Lima News Thursday as to whether he would accept Mr. Ludwig's challenge, stated that he could not answer that question, as he had not received a copy of the challenge.

FINE IS PROPOSED

Those Tampering With Hydrants May Be Punished

Tampering with fire hydrants is to be punished with a fine, according to Mayor Frank A. Burkhardt.

The mayor declared a great deal of trouble has been experienced in the past on account of unauthorized persons tampering with these hydrants. He said the fire department has had trouble on numerous occasions in getting hydrants to work. This is especially true in the winter, he said, when they freeze up unless pumped out after being used.

A meeting of the heads of the safety and service departments and the city solicitor has been called for Friday morning at the mayor's office to consider the matter.

FLOWERS IN PARK TO BE GIVEN AWAY BY CITY

Twelve hundred dollars worth of flowers in Laurel park are to be given to the hospitals, schools, nurseries and other institutions of the city Friday.

Service Director Elmer McClain announced Superintendent Zartman will be at the park from 9 to 11 in the forenoon and from 1 to 3 in the afternoon to distribute these flowers to those who call for them. Heretofore, according to McClain, the flowers have been allowed to remain in the park and freeze as soon as cold weather arrived. He declared it is his belief that a great deal of good can be done by distributing them among institutions which can put them and keep them during the winter.

A few of the flowers will be stored in the park during the winter and will be transplanted in the park again next spring, he said.

Pair May Be Secured for Park By McClain

Laurel park is to be invaded by the buffalo. Service Director Elmer McClain made this announcement Thursday. He said he is willing to all parks and other places in the U. S. where they are available and will make an attempt to get a pair of these rapidly disappearing king of the American prairies for Lima.

Figures compiled January first show North American to contain only slightly over 8,000 buffaloes, and McClain thinks out of this number it will be possible to obtain a pair for Lima. Only 3,000 of these are in the United States, the remainder being in Canada.

Only 50 of the present buffalo population of America are wild, the remaining 8,000 being in captivity in parks throughout the U. S. and Canada.

WHY 5%

The question is frequently asked, "Why does a Savings and Loan Company pay five per cent interest on deposits instead of a lower rate?"

It is a fair question and here is a fair answer from The Allen County Savings and Loan Company as to its method of business.

This Company makes loans only upon approved real estate security and the business has been so carefully managed that not one dollar of any loan has ever been lost; the insurance policies covering buildings on the land mortgaged must always be made payable to the Company in case of loss by fire, withdrawals of deposits are usually permitted when called for, but the Company reserves the right to require notice of withdrawal; and a lower "overhead" expense makes a wide margin of profit necessary.

All loans made by this Company are made upon property in or near Lima and help to build up our own community and increases the value of local property and the number of home owners.

HARDING FLOUNDERS
UNDER the roof of his front porch in Marion, with favorable surroundings, talking to ardent partisans of his own political belief, Senator Harding was not bothered by hecklers, but when he departed from his own dooryard and penetrated Baltimore, Md., for an address, he received a little of the same sort of treatment that Republican hecklers have been giving Governor Cox.

But the Senator doesn't begin to handle himself so well as does the Governor. In fact, one of the men who interrupted his address in Baltimore to ask questions was placed under arrest. Forced by a questioner in his Baltimore audience to declare himself concerning the League of Nations, Senator Harding stated that he is not in favor of going into the League. Many thousands of Republicans have been supporting Mr. Harding in the vague hope that somehow, some way, some day, he would work out some means of going into the League.

As this statement by Senator Harding was not sufficient to comfort his followers, who realize that a League is necessary if peace is to be maintained in the future, the Marion candidate further floundered and gave utterance to this amazing statement:

"I am perfectly frank to say to you that I am without anything specific about a program of constructive character about the League of Nations."

Where now are the fine spun theories given expression from the front porch at Marion, where every speech is read from manuscript and every sentence of every speech carefully edited, revised and scanned by a corps of political experts? Indeed, where are the plans the Senator so flamboyantly pictured in telling of how he proposed to make a separate peace with Germany and organize a new world court in place of the League of Nations?

A little heckling has peeved Harding much and he quickly lost his head and said things he quickly repented of, after the heckler had been jailed. Governor Cox answers questions promptly and courteously from the stump and holds that the American voter has the right to propound questions to candidates on the issues of the campaign.

HUSBANDS ARE BLAMED
MILITANT mannered and meek husbands probably didn't heretofore know it, but they are hereby informed, on no less an authority than W. L. George, English novelist, now making a study of America, that they are responsible for all the trouble in married life.

George avers that when a man marries he is "not married and done for," but that he is "married and begun." The British novelist advises that married men should not be too truthful to their wives; that it is better to lie a little than to be unhappy much. According to his advice, it isn't good policy for a husband to tell his wife that her dress is unbecoming, even tho it is; don't tell her she is looking fagged; don't try to be too humorous, as it piques her vanity.

We married men didn't know it before, but the Britisher tells us that too many men allow happy courtships to grow into dull marriages; that once he is married, a man first neglects his clothes, then his manners and finally his attentions to his wife. He says that only the husband who finds something to keep his wife's mind occupied every evening can hope to be happy; that women are more interested in mentality than men.

The married man is advised to maintain the complimentary attitude of a sweetheart and that a little exaggeration of his own and her good looks is not a bad thing. Just how a benedict is going to fully carry out these "orders" that are advanced as essentials to happiness is more than one can well understand, when he has been married a quarter of a century or more and has lapsed into well defined ways of thinking and living.

This man George may know all about it, from his own viewpoint and if anybody wishes to adopt his plan as suggested they are perfectly welcome. It isn't copyrighted or patented and George probably wants others to know about it, else he would not have made it public.

Help yourselves, you married men!

OUR FAITH SHAKEN AT LAST
FOR years the American people have referred to our great national sport, baseball, as the one thing untainted. It has been with much pride that we have pointed to this pastime as the one thing in the sport line over which the dark shadow of suspicion had not passed. But now, on the eve of another great world series, we have some of the foremost performers of the game admitting that they were traitors; that they threw down their employers and the sport world for a few paltry dollars.

Other sports have long had a black eye. Horse racing, and professional boxing have long been known to be full of tricks and "set ups" but baseball, until the last several days, has been regarded as above reproach.

It is to be regretted that the participants in this great game should succumb to the unscrupulous and bring disgrace upon themselves and suspicion upon others. Organized baseball can live it down but it can be done only thru conscientious and clean efforts. No pains should be spared to weed out those in any way tainted. Their places should be filled with men who have the welfare of the national sport at heart and who place its well-being above a bribe.

JUST A GIRL

BY JOSE PHELPS

THE REASON WHY

IT WAS my clothes—plus my abundant hair, which I wore plain knotted and low in my neck, plus the undesired but now patent admiration of the objectionable floorwalker—that had brought about my discharge.

When I look back at those days which seemed so tragic to me, I feel like smiling in self-pity. Yet I was more fortunate than many others. I had a companion in Mary, one whom I could both love and trust, and I knew mother was being well cared for—that she would not suffer for anything really necessary.

I think had it not been for this—the thought that mother was all right—I could not have gone on. Of the girls were hard to bear, and when they ignored me, it was not much better. I was just a girl, too, and it was hard to feel out of everything.

I now realize that mine was the same story of discouragement, hope, and despair that comes to many girls. I was without friends or associates save only Mary Murphy. Many nights I went to bed my appetite unsatisfied, because of some extra expense. I had been obliged to use my money for laundry, but often was obliged to wear my underclothes unaltered because of lack of time and strength. A pair of shoes, a hat, even gloves, meant days of self-denial.

"There is a better way and some day I shall find it," I often said to Mary when, discouraged, we would talk things over.

"Taint no use trying to do anything when we ain't got no money. We shall not try to do anything different until you stop saying, 'ain't' and 'taint'."

"I know it! But I forget all the time. I didn't mean that," I replied, repenting at once when I saw Mary's humility. "It really doesn't matter as much as you think. I only correct you for your own sake."

"I wish you would beat me when I say them words."

"All right, I will!" I smiled at her use of "them." But what difference did it make after all? It was the goodness of the girl, her tender heart, that counted, not the ability to speak correctly.

Mrs. Fagin was a dear. She was so kind to us, and often helped us with good sensible advice.

"Never mind, dearie," she would tell me when I came in almost too tired to stand. "You'll git used to it by and by. It's the best on your feet all day what tires you so."

HEALTH HINTS

By William Brady, M. D.

SOME MORE OF THE GLORY

To the plutocratic North American—which means nearly everybody these days—it may seem inconsistent to say that exercise is good for fatigue. The famous Third Businessman will at once dismiss the thought as the notion of a "nut." Yet exercise is for it, and it is tired feeling which so depresses and discourages a man with the wrong idea of hygiene. For illustration: My Dear Dr. Brady:

I am an old man, but the conditions of my business have made it necessary for me to work very hard for several months. I am on my feet and "on the jump" almost incessantly from the time I get up until I retire. Two months ago I was so tired mornings that I became depressed. Prompted by your interested discussion of exercise I renewed some morning exercises I had learned in a class drill in a previous century. Immediately my fatigue disappeared. One would think that to add any kind of exercise to the work that I do would be a waste of strength. The last time that I got up too late to take my exercise I went home at night completely exhausted and discouraged. I told you realize what was the matter until nearly ready for bed—so it could not have been autosuggestion.

It is simply a fact, in my experience, that four or five minutes brisk exercise in the morning keeps me thru, fresh and strong, the abnormally long hours I have to work.

Even that fatigue which is produced by long hard muscular effort is most promptly relieved by rest without sleep. The fatigue which persons engaged in business or professional work experience is not muscular, of course.

Muscle activity, brisk exercise, causes an increased absorption of oxygen. This is not theory, but demonstrated fact. Fatigue is produced by an accumulation of tissue by-products which are incompletely oxidized and must be disposed of before the individual can feel refreshed. Exercise increases the oxidation of these tissue by-products and thus relieves fatigue. If the by-products are derived from hard muscular work, they will be more readily oxidized during rest without sleep, for in sleep the oxidation process slows down naturally.

These fatigue substances, tissue by-products, incompletely burned fuel, are chiefly acid in character. When we prescribe two miles of oxygen once, twice or three times daily on the hoof, that is exercise, and it is fine for that tired feeling.

If it involves an effort, many a morning and many a night, to begin your efficiency exercises, you just hate to begin, you are so tired and weary. It goes against the grain, and, as our correspondent says, it seems like adding still more fatigue. But if you have learned the great value of self-discipline you will drive yourself to your exercise, and very shortly you will have experienced an extraordinary relief from fatigue—for you have postponed the oxidation of your fatigue poison.

The T. B. M. makes the mistake of going to a show, or a ballgame, or some such doubtful recreation. He should put on a show "up or a" or start a game of three-old-cat in the vacant lot. He sorely needs exercise, not rest. Muscular exercise is the kind of rest his system requires.

PISO'S

YOUR NAME

SCOTT, Schott.

VARIATIONS—Scott, Schott. Etymology—Doubtful. SOURCE—Also doubtful.

Here is a family name that is a good bit of a puzzle, both as to origin and source.

The obvious explanation, but one which is not entirely satisfactory, is that it was originally a name added to the given name in order to describe nationality. Undoubtedly this actually is the true origin of the name in a great many cases, for in the old English records there are instances of such names as "Malcolm le Scot," which, of course, could have no other meaning.

But this does not explain everything. There are more ancient records in Italy, in France and in Germany, as well as Anglo-Saxon England, which prove that "Scott," in one form or another, was rather widespread as a given name, and not as a descriptive name added to the given name. Latin inscriptions give us the form "Scotinus" and "Scotus" (the latter apparently being a common name among the Teutonic Franks who lived in the northern part of France). The name was also common among the subjects of the Emperor Charlemagne and among other Teutonic names as "Scotardus," with syllable, is to be noted, similar to Richard, Reynard, Leonard, etc. It was also an Anglo-Saxon given name, as "Scotia," and the place-name Scotow is simply a development of the Anglo-Saxon "Scotelo" or "grave of Scotia."

In those days there was no such name as Scotland, tho in the Celtic tongue, Ireland was known as "Scotia." It was not until the Middle Ages that, as the name of a country, it was transferred to Scotland in common use.

The existence of the family name in so many countries indicates its origin.

"HOW TO BE A WIDOW"

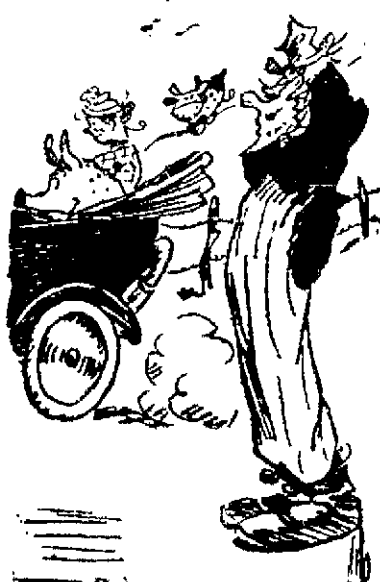

We have noticed with more or less, shall we say apprehension, a discussion in some of the magazines on the subject of "how to be a widow." The subject is one which seems to have taken hold of the feminine mind, as it were. Some of them are already widows, while others have hopes.

We would be disinclined to believe that any woman would enter into the ancient and honorable institution of marriage with widowed in view, but the cold manner in which the matter is discussed right out in the public prints leads us to a state of uncertainty, and we are sure many husbands, who chance to read the fair-sex magazines when there is nothing else in the house, share our nervous feeling.

The husband who has read one of these articles is apt to glance at his coffee apprehensively, and then decide that he does not feel like a cup of coffee that morning, or he may keep his razor downstairs or quietly drag the family revolver into the garage can.

Of course the articles are couched in lady like language, but when a man reads the heading in staring type, "How to Be a Widow," he begins to imagine things. When he his wife poring over this veritable article he is more than apt to rush out and buy her a new Hudson seal coat or a mahogany teawagon and try to placate her even tho he does not know just why she should want to become a widow.

Thoughts of their past lives come over these men and they begin to wonder just what the wife has found out. It is only fair to state that there is usually something to find out.

The articles do not go into gruesome details and tell the women exactly how to be widows. There are many ways, in fact it is one of the oldest arts in existence. One can be a widow so easily.

However we do not favor the discussion. It has a more or less personal tone which we do not fancy.

Police society of Tillin-hast, Okla., turned out en masse last Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard W. Frisby to attend the marriage of their charming and accomplished daughter, Anastasia Frisby Perkins Shinn Fletcher, to Mr. Ezra Finch, the prominent and popular village sign painter, also popular public with real lawn mowers, sharpened, real estate and conveyancing, two cream, shoe repairing and calling cards written with neatness and dispatch. The bride was given away by her father who was very nervous, as he had given her away three times before and she had always come back. Mendel & Sons' wedding march was played by Miss Pansy Tibbets on the ukulele, and the fatal words were spoken by Rev. Hanks of the Baptist church. The bride wore a charming headpiece and the family jewels, but didn't catch cold.

ANCIENT OF DAYS

I can remember when a ju had quite a lot of kick to it and I could take an old thru dune and go and have a lovely time. I can remember when twosits would shock a bellhop into fits and when I could produce a half and even make a barber laugh.

I can remember when a plunk would purchase for me quite a hunk of porterhouse or let me go and have a seat at some good show. I can remember when two bucks would buy for me a brace of ducks and when, if I could show a "V," I was in good society.

And I can even remember when I profoundly flashed a new-laid ten and on a modest twenty-five, for one whole month, I'd stay alive. And when a lord had fifty beans he had a fortune in his jeans. A hundred bucks was then a price beyond the dreams of avarice.

I've seen the thies of commerce flow. I've seen these moneys come and go. They used to be a husky bunch and even a nuckle packed a punch. Yes, I remember when a ju had quite a lot of kick to it. There's just one answer to be told. I must be getting pretty old.

A wise man once said: "If every man were a millionaire, a dollar wouldn't buy anything."

According to that theory, we must be about 98 per cent millionaires now.

Doesn't look as tho anybody is going to make any money out of the theatrical business this season except those who are mixed up in it.

If they keep on inventing biznises that will shoot further and farther it will soon be possible to have a war without anybody leaving home.

WHAT THE STARS PREDICT TODAY

Today is unimportant. Commerce has a good augury today.

Norway and other European countries ruled by kings will suffer much disturbance.

Race questions will occupy the public mind to the exclusion of other interests at this time.

The stars predict that within a generation American women will attain a higher standard of beauty than the ancient Greeks.

Persons whose birthday this is will have a happy, successful year.

Children born today will be very gifted.

THE ROOM WITH THE TASSELS

By Carolyn Wells

ANOTHER CONFESSION

Pennington Wise and Zizi sat in the hall talking. It was part of Wise's policy never to hold secret conclaves with his little assistant, for, he said that the people who employed him were entitled to all his suspicions or deductions as they took shape and grew in his mind. Professor Hardwick joined them as Wise was saying, "What first turned your attention to the Room with the Tassels, Zizi? Why did you move into that room to sleep?"

"Because the lock was oiled," Zizi replied, her black eyes glistening. "The first time I got a chance I looked at all the locks in the house, and only two were freshly oiled, and they had been well looked after, —I can tell you."

"What did that prove to you?" Hardwick asked.

"That somebody was haunting the Room with the Tassels who had to open the door to get in. No ghost would need to turn a knob and open the door. They splash right thru walls or anything, or they ought to if they knew their business! But this lock, as well as the knob, was oiled, and, as you know, the door was opened the locked on the inside. Clever fingers can turn a key from the other side, if they have a certain implement, used by burglars. Also, if the key was not in the door, clever people could provide a duplicate key. But these things are not necessary for ghosts. They just glide in serenely, not even thinking about keys or doors."

"You're right, child," and Wise nodded approvingly at her. "Now, what other door had its lock oiled?"

"Not only the lock, but the hinges of one of the bedroom doors were carefully oiled. You know which one, Penny."

"I do, Zizi. Have you no suspicion, Professor?"

"I'd rather not say. As a friend of all the people in our party, I simply can't bring myself to mention the name of any one of them, and, yet if one of us is a criminal, it is the duty of the others to see justice done."

"Well, it must soon come out, anyway. It is Mr. Tracy's door, isn't it, Zizi?"

"Yes."

"Bless my soul!" cried the Professor. "Tracy! Why, he's a minister!"

"No," and Penny Wise shook her head. "Mr. Tracy is not a minister and never was. On the contrary, he's about as far removed from piety of any sort, as any man on God's green earth."

"What are you saying?" cried Eve Carnforth, coming swiftly toward them. "Mr. Tracy not a minister!"

"No," repeated Wise. "John Tracy is a notorious criminal, known as Smug Johnny by his friends, and also by the police. I have just had returns from inquiries I sent to Chicago, and I learn that this double-dyed villain is wanted on several counts, but never before has he been accused of murder."

"And did he kill Mr. Bruce and Vernie?" cried Eve, her hands clenched in excitement and her long eyes narrowed with fear.

"He did, I am positive. We have yet to prove it, but I have evidence enough."

"Where is he?" said Hardwick abruptly.

"Under strict surveillance," returned Wise. "My men are at his heels day and night. He can't get away."

"He stole me," said Zizi. "You see I had my eye on him, 'cause of his oiled door. Then, when he came, I thought he was only going to scare me, but he stuffed that oil chloroform in my mouth so quick, I couldn't even yell out. If I hadn't had some experience in swimming pools and movie thrillers, I'd been down at the bottom of that horrid old lake this minute!"

"But I can't understand," and Eve looked puzzled; "why would Mr. Tracy kill those people, and how did he do it? Mr. Wise, you're crazy! It's an impossible theory!"

Others had gathered in the hall, now, and Pennington Wise told them all of his recent adventures from Chicago, that proved the supposed clergyman a fraud and a villain.

Milly showed the greatest relief. "Oh," she cried, "I'm glad you've found out who it was, anyway! But it doesn't seem as if Mr. Tracy could be a bad man—are you sure, Mr. Wise?"

"Yes, Mrs. Landon, there is no doubt at all. Now, let us reconstruct the scene of those two deaths. Where was Mr. Tracy sitting?"

"Right here, where I am now," said Norma, thinking back. "Vernie was over there, near the front door. Mr. Bruce was across the hall by Professor Hardwick, and Eve was in the middle of the room by the tea-table."

"Will you be so kind, Miss Carnforth, to think very carefully," said Wise, "and see if you recollect Mr. Tracy's presence near you as you were fixing the various cups of tea. Did he have the slightest opportunity to add anything to the cup that was afterward handed to Mr. Bruce?"

Excited almost hysterical, Eve obeyed the detective's command, and said, after a moment's thought, "Yes, he did. I remember he passed near me, and Vernie stood at my side also. They had a bit of good-natured banter as to which should take the cup I had just poured out, and Vernie won, and she laughingly corded it to Mr. Bruce. I remember it distinctly."

"Then, doubtless, at that moment, Tracy dropped the small amount of poison necessary in the cup, sure that it would be given to Mr. Bruce. Had Vernie given it to an one else, he would have intercepted it. He is a man of suave manners, you know."

"Yes," said Norma, "particularly so, and very graceful about any social matters. He always assisted in passing the tea things."

"Go on," said Penny Wise; "what happened as Mr. Bruce took his first sip of tea?"

"He changed countenance at once," said Hardwick. "I was talking to him, and a queer pallor came over his face and then it turned fiery red. He dropped his cup—"

"One moment," said Wise, "what became of that broken cup?"

"I've no idea," said the Professor, helplessly looking about him.

LINDSEY WONDERS WHAT CAN BE WRONG WITH JACK

I was very prompt about keeping my appointment with aunt and Jeff this evening—partly because the count was too eager for me to linger with him, and I've learned when I flit away, from danger, I have; and partly because I was afraid that Cecil might walk into the place at any minute, and be fearful angry with me for being there with the count, at all!

Aunt Cecilia and Jeff had been going some all the afternoon themselves, and were tired out. So we all went back to our hotel, washed up a bit, and decided to have dinner right there with the little mother, who was also tired.

One miserable card from Jack today saying that he was very much upset about several matters, and that's why he had not written for two weeks. Pooh! Let him keep up his silent treatment; maybe I can show him a thing or two in that line, and some others, myself.

Well, I'm not going to let any man, not even a fiance, spoil my trip to Europe, nor my young beauty, nor my temper—so there!

It's all my own fault for ever letting myself become engaged to anybody at all—just at present, I'm not old enough to keep constant to a memory, nor am I old enough to know my own heart or mind thoroughly—at least I don't think so.

I shall maintain a dignified silence from now on, and "ack" can think what he likes. I shall not run after any man; neither shall I allow any man to neglect me, even if I am three thousand miles away. The funny part of it all is that any one would think that Jack was the

I hope that I shall not die of unrequited love, tho, I must say I want to live and live, and then live some more and be happy with—well, with Jack, if he repents and have a home of my own and little Jacks and Lindsays; and everything. That's what I really long for most in this world just now!

Is your butter always strictly fresh?

If you secure butter that comes to your dealer direct from the creamery, and that is churned daily, then you can always be sure of having strictly fresh butter. Otherwise you may have various qualities of butter.

Golmar is churned daily, and delivered direct to your dealer, thereby enabling him to keep you supplied with this wonderful spread—in exactly the same condition as you wish your butter to be in. Furthermore, when you place Golmar on your table you simply cannot tell any difference between it and the very best creamery butter in taste or texture.

Golmar is strictly vegetable—therefore wholesome, digestible—and stays fresh amply long enough to enable a small family to use a pound package. Golmar has the fresh creamery butter taste—the fresh creamery butter goodness—yet it costs you much less than creamery butter because it is made of nut oils which are less expensive than dairy products.

Get a package of Golmar from your dealer and try it. Remember, that if it doesn't give you exactly the same satisfaction you now are getting from fresh creamery your money will be refunded.

THE ROOM WITH THE TASSELS

ANOTHER CONFESSION

Pennington Wise and Zizi sat in the hall talking. It was part of Wise's policy never to hold secret conclaves with his little assistant, for, he said that the people who employed him were entitled to all his suspicions or deductions as they took shape and grew in his mind. Professor Hardwick joined them as Wise was saying, "What first turned your attention to the Room with the Tassels, Zizi?"

"Because the lock was oiled," Zizi replied, her black eyes glistening. "The first time I got a chance I looked at all the locks in the house, and only two were freshly oiled, and they had been well looked after."

"I can tell you."

"What did that prove to you?"

Hardwick asked.

"That somebody was haunting the Room with the Tassels who had to open the door to get in. No ghost would need to turn a knob and open the door. They slipped right thru walls or anything, or they ought to, if they knew their business! But this lock, as well as the knob, was oiled, and, as you know, the door was opened the lock on the inside. Clever fingers can turn a key from the other side, if they have a certain implement, used by burglars. Also, if the key was not in the door, clever people could provide a duplicate key. But these things are not necessary for ghosts. They just glide in serenely, not even thinking about keys or doors."

"You're right, child," and Wise nodded approvingly at her. "Now, what other door had its lock oiled?"

"Not only the lock, but the hinges of one of the bedroom doors were carefully oiled. You know which one, Penny."

"I do, Zizi. Have you no suspicion, Professor?"

"I'd rather not say. As a friend of all the people in our party, I simply can't bring myself to mention the name of any one of them, and, yet if one of us is a criminal, it is the duty of the others to see justice done."

"Well, it must soon come out, anyway. It is Mr. Tracy's door, isn't it, Zizi?"

"Yes."

"Bless my soul!" cried the Professor. "Tracy! Why, he's a minister!"

"No," and Penny Wise shook her head. "Mr. Tracy is not a minister and never was. On the contrary, he's about as far removed from purity of any sort, as any man on God's green earth."

CHALLENGE TO BE MADE

Manager Joe Pelligrini, of the B. and O. baseball team, announces that his team is ready to challenge the winner of first honors in the Industrial League race, to be decided Saturday, when the Dassel-Wemmer and Garford teams, tied for first place, play the final game.

It is desired by the B. and O. team to stage a series, two out of three, for the city championship. Manager Pelligrini is certain that his team will be able to defeat the winner of the Industrial League honors and is anxious that the challenge offered is accepted.

DECIDING SERIES ON IN DETROIT AND ST. LOUIS NOW

Cleveland's task of winning the American League pennant looked easier than ever Thursday.

By sweeping the series with the Browns, Nails, Bagby and Coveleskie, the "big three" brought the club standing to a point where they have to win three out of four from the Tigers to clinch the pennant in an extreme case.

What is left of the old White Sox team with two gaping holes in the outfield and two in the infield, occupied by substitutes, will open a three-game series Friday in St. Louis.

Three straight victories there would force Speaker to win three out of four; two victories would make Cleveland winner with two out of four with the Tigers and if the Sox win only one game, Speaker has to win only one.

OUTFIELDS OF TEAMS COMPARED

Henry I. Farrell, baseball authority in comparing the teams which probably will meet in the world's series next week, in a series of four articles, of which this is the second in this, the outfielders are compared.

Left Speaker is one of the great outfielders that ever ran the card.

The presence of these big men in the outfield will give the Indians some of the advantage over the Brooklyn outfit.

Outside of Speaker, the Indians' outfielders look better, man for man, than the Brooklyn team in right field, having in alternate a pair against right and left hand hitting.

However, Speaker manipulates his outfield like a machine. He is one of the smartest players in baseball and seems to have the measure of getting himself under the ball before it is hit. He works the pair at his sides with skill.

In right field, Tommy Griffith and Bernie News, the Canadian League youngster, alternate. News being the right-handed batter, Griffith was late in reporting this spring and News sparked brilliantly at the bat and in the field until Manager Robinson tried to make a left handed batter of him. He slumped then and Griffith returned to the game. Griffith is the more consistent batter, the big slick has been carrying for only 250. News is the fastest man on the team but as Speaker's outfield is strong as either Griffith or News, Griffith probably will get the most work.

Joe Wood and Smith, in right field for the Indians, also alternate, but Smith does the bulk of the work. He is a fair batter and good fielder inasmuch as his territory is the outfield, but again there is Speaker.

SOX WILL CONTINUE FIGHT FOR FLAG

CHICAGO — With little more than a fighting chance to win the American League pennant, the Chicago White Sox, crippled by the loss of every star as a result of the baseball scandal investigation, left today for St. Louis to open the final three game series of the season tomorrow with the St. Louis Browns.

The players were determined to fight to the end and were not backward in expressing their belief that the Browns, who have just lost four straight to the Cleveland Indians, would lose three more in a row. For the Sox to win the pennant they must win three in a row, while Cleveland is dropping three out of four to Detroit.

In his final drive for the pennant Manager Gleason expects to pitch Kerr in the first game, Faber in the second and then come back with Kerr in the third. The rest of the lineup probably will be: Jordan, first; E. Collins, second base; McClellan, short; Murphy, center; J. Collins, left; Leibold, third; Strunk, right; Schalk, catcher.

INDICTED FOR "THROWING" BIG SERIES

The biggest bomb ever exploded in organized baseball was dropped recently. It was the indictment of the Cooks grand jury in Chicago of seven members of the Chicago White Sox, including many of the stars, and one ex-member. The players are under indictment for conspiring to throw the world's and Risberg, and Pitchers Williams and Cicotte. The former player is now an outfielder for the Sox last year.

FUTURITY RACE

COLUMBUS — The Western Horseman's Futurity for three year old pacers, purse $2,500, was the feature event on today's Grand circuit program. The field comprised Finson June, Billy Greene, Trumpsafe and Jane Forbes. The class events made up the remainder of the card, the 2:08 pace; the 2:15 trot and the 2:13 pace.

AFTER smoking your first Spur, you might say "just right," "immense" or "great"—means the same thing. Means: "There was room at the top for a cigarette that can refresh a tired and much tried taste. And Spur's that cigarette."

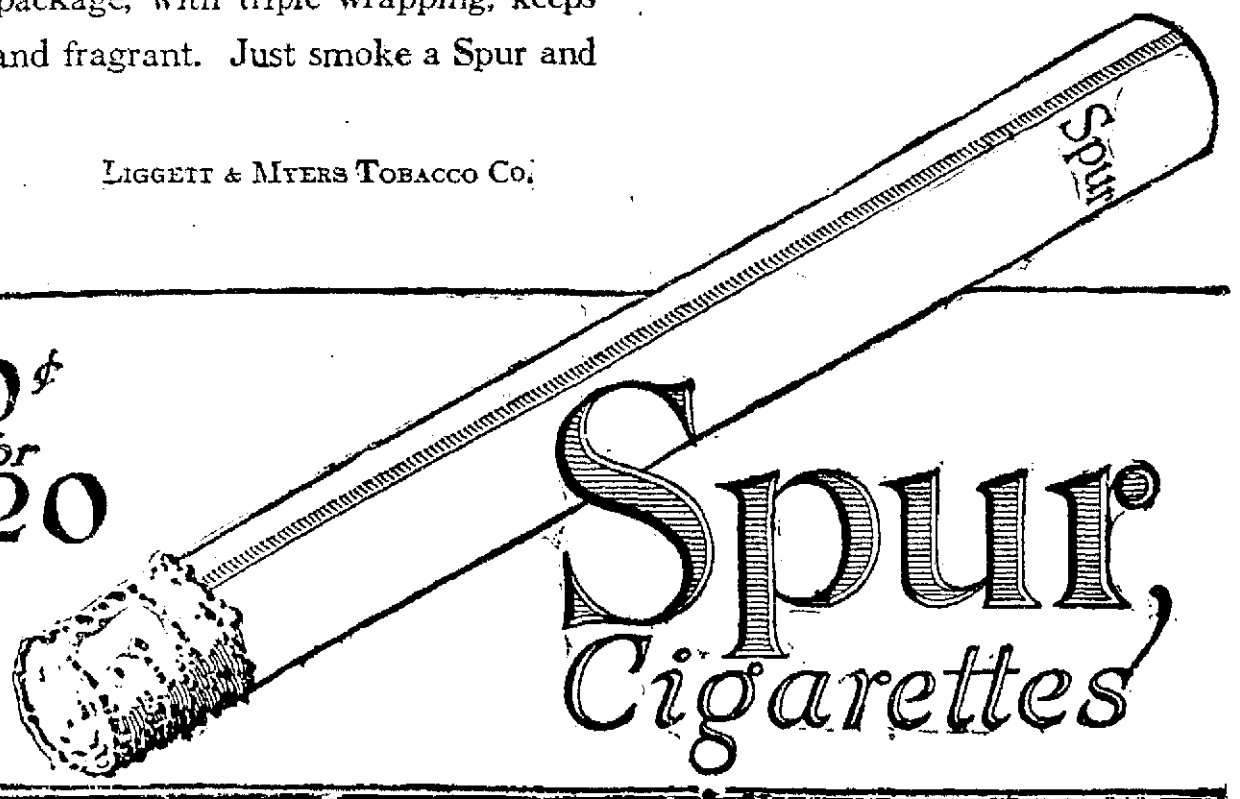

In the new Spur blend you find:

The richness of the full bodied Oriental leaf tempered by the mildness and fragrance of Burley and other choice home-grown tobaccos. It's a happy blend that brings out to the full that good tobacco taste.

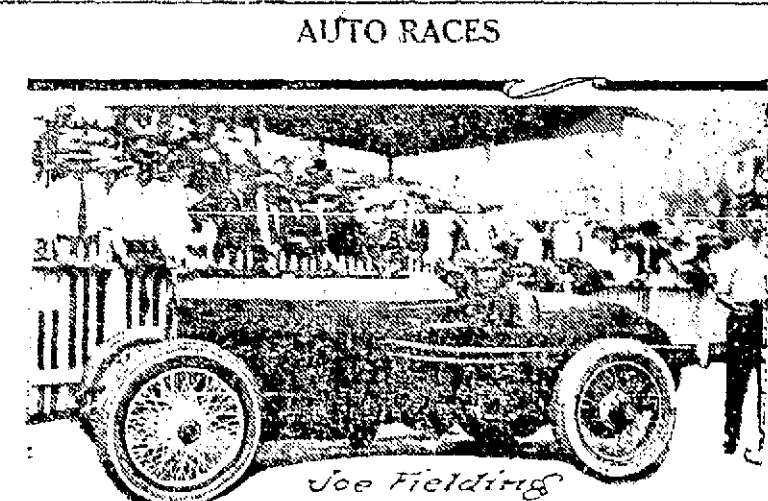

And what's more! Satiny imported paper, crimped, not pasted—makes an easier-drawing, slower-burning cigarette. A mighty neat "brown and silver" package, with triple wrapping, keeps Spurs fresh and fragrant. Just smoke a Spur and see.

'BRANDED WOMAN' GREAT PLAY

Declared Best Picture Made By Norma Talmadge

'MERELY MARY ANN' IS HERE
She Smiles Despite Her Hard
Daily Duties

(By ESTHER WAGNER)
HERE can be no doubt about it. "The Branded Woman" is a distinct achievement, not only for the beautiful star, Norma Talmadge, but for the directors, and everyone who had anything to do with producing the film.

It's the story of a young girl who, on her graduation from a fashionable boarding school, finds herself the daughter of a notorious character, Dot Belmar, who has made plans for her daughter to live a life similar to her own.

Ruth, the daughter is taken to the gambling den which her mother runs. Judge Whitlock, hearing of the scandal at the boarding school and suspecting Dot's plans, arrives just in time to save Ruth and takes her away. A year later she marries Douglas Courtenay, American diplomat, keeping him in ignorance about her mother.

When he finds whom he has married, does he leave her? He does. And he tells her she is no better than her mother. Whereupon Ruth leaves her husband and baby because she believes she is doing the right thing for all of them.

Seldom have we seen such gorgeous interiors and scenes as in "The Branded Woman." The allegorical scenes showing a woman being dragged into a shiny pool of helplessness are wonderful, and the scenes of the Fall Last, representing the slave mail, where Norma, as the heroine, is sold at public auction, are picturesque and beautiful. As far as photography is concerned, the picture is perfect.

Percy Marmont, the husband, does good work. Tho he is not exacting one of the raving beauties of the opposite sex, one forgets his appearance in the realistic quality of his acting. Playing opposite the versatile Miss Talmadge, he is superb. And George Fawcett, the old dear, is in the cast, too. He's Judge Whitlock, big hearted grandfather of Norma, who sees that everything comes out alright for his little girl.

I am sure "The Branded Woman" will always remain in your minds as Norma Talmadge's greatest picture. I think it is such.

The Regent is featuring this production for the rest of the week.

"Merely Mary Ann"

A Delightful little romance of a low-brow and a struggling young composer is "Merely Mary Ann", the Metro picture showing at the Sigma.

Poor little Mary Ann! Her life is a round of washing dishes, scrubbing floors, shining shoes and obeying every order of Mrs. Leadbetter, owner of the boarding house in which she works. But Mary Ann in spite of her hard lot, always smiles.

The struggling young composer, Lancelot, is a nobleman who is living in the frugal splendor of the boarding house striving to be a successful composer of music. But he has a hard time, and the little appealing face of Mary Ann cheers him somewhat. Her red chapped hands, however, are a source of much disgust and he presents her with a pair of gloves to wear when in his presence.

A romance grows out of these little incidents but would a nobleman however impoverished, marry a little slave? Certainly not. And they part.

It happens that Mary Ann is left a fortune by someone or other and becomes a well-bred lady, in due time. And the young composer is successful. What could be clearer?

Of course they meet a tin, they show a few heart-rending close-ups and everything is over with.

Casson Ferguson is the leading man in this particular picture and does splendidly. If you like him, Babe London as the overgrown land-lady's daughter, furnishes a goodly part of the comedy and the others in the cast have been well chosen.

The director seems to have the same trouble as most directors for the picture has a close-up about every few feet of the film. Not that Shirley Mason isn't a good subject for a close-up, but she's just as charming otherwise, and promises to run a close rival to our own Mat Pickford when it comes to playing slave parts.

WONDERFUL TONE-TEST DEMONSTRATION WITH VIOLIN AND PIANO

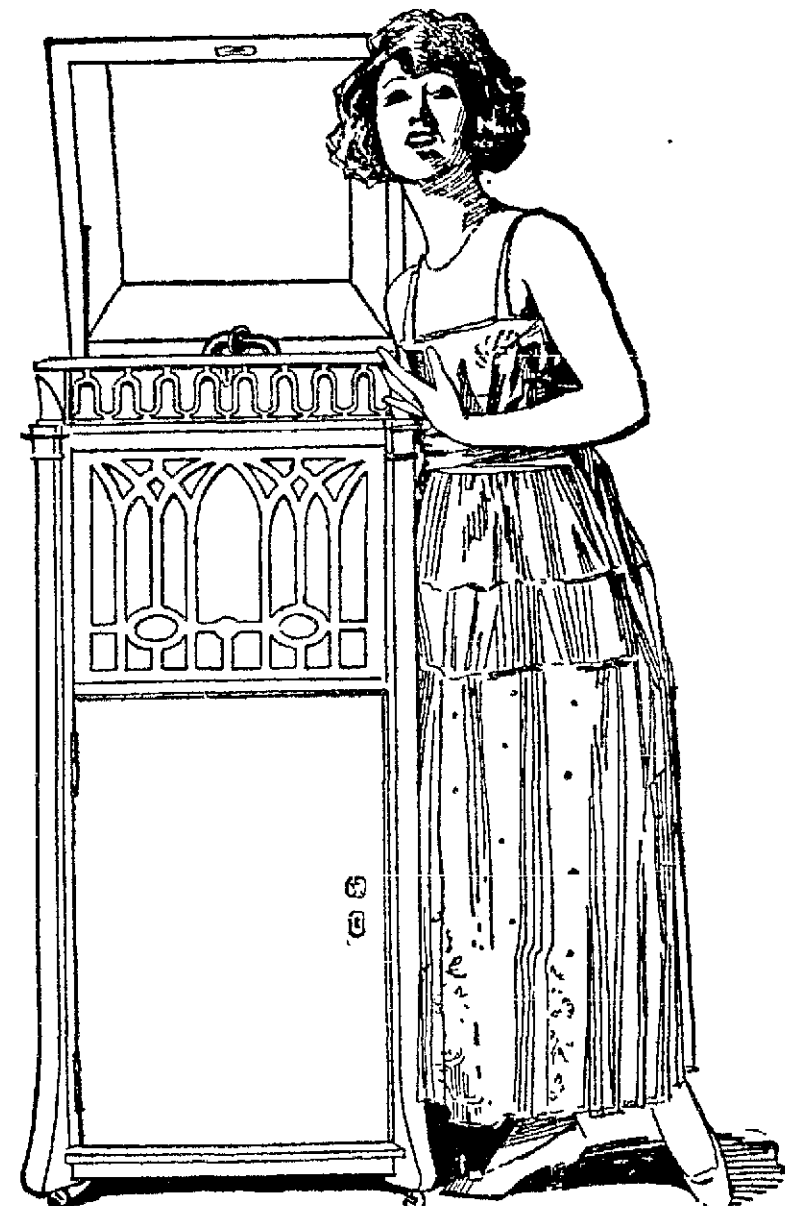

An audience composed of appreciative music lovers of Lima were guests of F. E. Harman, a tone-test recital given by Miss Leet Corder, soprano and Miss Lucile Collette, pianist and violinist, at Memorial Hall Wednesday evening. Miss Corder who has a wonderfully clear and beautiful voice, opened the program with "I You Could Care" and "Underneath the Southern Skies," with the Edison re-creation of her voice.

creation of a violin solo by Kathleen Parlow, famous woman violinist. Unless the listeners watched both artists closely they could not distinguish when the artists stopped at intervals, while the same selection was being played on the phonograph. With the lights turned off, Miss Corder sang several selections, and her hearers could not detect the difference between her natural voice and that of the phonograph, because she had disappeared from the stage when the lights were switched on again.

Miss Collette also entertained her listeners with several Edison re-creations of her own performances on the piano, which were exceptionally rendered. This is one of the most difficult feats in tone-test work, but Miss Collette proved herself an artist of the greatest ability. The music scale was given by Mr. Harman as a demonstration of the re-producing powers of the Edison phonograph.

compare voice with RE-CREATION by Edison's new phonograph—could not tell the two apart.

Miss Leet Corder, Soprano and Miss Lucile Collette, Violinist and Pianist, gave an extraordinary recital last night at Memorial Hall.

Miss Corder took a position next to a beautiful cabinet. They saw her lips give voice to the opening lines of "Villanelle." Then suddenly her lips were still—but this song kept following on, how came this? They were hearing Miss Corder's voice, yet she was not singing. Then Miss Collette gave selections on the Violin and then on the piano and each in turn mystified the audience. The artists made comparison after comparison. The audience tried vainly to catch a difference between the original rendition and its Recreation by the New Edison. No one could tell one from the other. It was a triumph whole and complete for the New Edison.

You can have a duplicate of the wonderful instrument used at Memorial Hall and, if you act quickly, we can furnish you with an engraved certificate (signed by Miss Corder) certifying that it is an exact duplicate in tonal quality of the instrument she used in her amazing comparison; also that it will sustain precisely the same test.

We have ten of the famous Official Laboratory Models and Miss Corder has certified every one of them. Come to our store at once and ask to see and hear the Official Laboratory Models on which Miss Corder has issued her Certificates of Authenticity.

Teeth Shine

When the film goes—watch and see

All statements approved by authorities

Learn now how teeth look—how they feel—when you combat the film. Get from your druggist, without cost, this ten-day test. Note the instant results, then look in ten days. Millions have already done this. Leading dentists everywhere advise it. Now show your home folks what clean teeth really mean.

The war on film

Dental science, the world over, is fighting a war on film. Film is that viscous that you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. And no tooth troubles are now traced to it. Those troubles have been constantly increasing. The ordinary tooth paste does not end film, so the tooth brush has proved inadequate. Millions know how soft-brushed teeth have discolored and decayed.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It is the food substance which ferments to form acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. And, despite all brushing, few escape these troubles caused by film.

New ways to fight it

Now dental science has found ways to fight film, day by day. Able authorities have proved the methods efficient. Leading dentists everywhere now urge their application. The methods are combined in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. To millions it has brought a new era in teeth cleaning. And to every home a ten-day test is offered free, so all may quickly know it.

Quick, visible results

Anyone can see and feel what Pepsodent is doing. No old method of brushing ever brought such effects. So we let this test convince you. One ingredient is pepsin. Another multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. The alkalinity of the saliva is multiplied also, and at once. That is to neutralize mouth acids which cause tooth decay. Two factors directly attack the film. One of them keeps teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily adhere. The effects of Pepsodent come with every application. We constantly combat, in efficient ways, the teeth's great enemies. And millions of teeth are given new protection and new beauty.
